How do people talk about women in your community?
In the sports stadium?
In the locker room?

We’ve all heard the talk: putting women down, making crude jokes. Some language is toxic. Violence and sexism can pollute our climate if we don’t change our thinking. Ending violence takes all of us.

Rise to the Challenge
Become part of the community addressing violence where you live.